

Testimonial for Teaching & Learning

Mrs Aslinda Jamil, Lecturer, Faculty of Pharmacy, UniSZA

I have had the pleasure of working with Mrs Aslinda Jamil and have always been impressed by her commitment to teaching and her innovative approach to education. She brings energy, clarity, and structure to every session she leads, and her students consistently respond well to her methods.

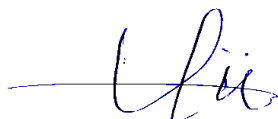

During our time working together, she has been instrumental in implementing initiatives such as OSCE (Objective Structured Clinical Examination) and Problem-Based Learning (PBL), which have significantly enhanced student learning and engagement. Her ability to adapt and apply these methods effectively reflects both her expertise and dedication.

She is also actively involved in community-based teaching. Programs such as Home Medication Reviews and Community Pharmacy Postings, which she helped coordinate, have provided students with practical exposure and helped bridge the gap between academic learning and real-world practice.

What stands out most in working with her is her genuine passion for teaching and her willingness to support others. She collaborates well with colleagues, shares resources freely, and is always open to new ideas for improving teaching and learning.

It has been a rewarding experience working alongside her, and I continue to learn from her professional approach and thoughtful insights.

Sincerely,
